

I do not favor implementation of this technology until all evidence is in. This would take at least several years of tests under many kinds of varying conditions. Restrictions must be placed on BPL such that it does not disrupt existing radio frequency communications. RFI can be tested for, make sure that all frequencies to be used in BPL are tested and then, if any are found to be interfering, they are prohibited.